DEDICATION OF LUKE AND OLIVER

This morning we have the joy of sharing in the dedication of Oliver James Aldred and Luke Isaac Bennett during our service. This is an opportunity to thank God for these children and dedicate them to Him. We would like to extend a very warm welcome to the family and friends of Charlotte, Tim, Rachel and Marc who have joined us this morning. It is a privilege to share in this occasion with you and we trust that you will experience the goodness and love of God as you join with us today.

AUSTIN

Here is a shortened excerpt from a post by Nicola on Facebook on Thursday: "Those of you who prayed, be encouraged... Yesterday morning we were told that Austin wouldn't make it through surgery. Drs and consultants wept as Austin was being taken to theatre... God made away where man told us there wasn't any. Austin still has a mountain to climb but with our God in his side anything is possible... Should we only get one more day with our beautiful son we cannot deny that yesterday we witnessed a miracle... because God heard the hearts of many. Kevin and I will never be able to thank you for praying so hard... Austin has needed no blood since leaving theatre and is continuing to amaze the Drs. Be encouraged Church. Our Prayer was answered. Let's keep praying for full recovery. Hallelujah Father all the praise is yours."

SCAFFOLDING

Only those who have been authorised instructed should use the scaffolding.

PERSONAL UPDATE

For those who are regularly part of our fellowship and weren't here last week, there are envelopes at the back that contain a personal update from Pastor Joel. Please do feel able to talk to Joel or any of our Leadership Team if you have any questions.

ALIGNMENT CHECK Blog by Joel Pridmore

Last week I noticed that both of my front tyres were severely worn on the insides. I am no mechanical expert, but I immediately knew I needed the tracking adjusted. With my MOT due and a lot of driving ahead in the coming weeks, I found a moment this week to get my tyres replaced (sadly it turned out I needed all four) and the alignment corrected.

Tracking is basically the alignment of the front wheels of the car and the necessary adjustment required specialist equipment and the skills of someone who knew how to use it. I can check my oil but I can't realign my wheels or change the tyres!

Later in the week I considered my spiritual and emotional tracking... Is my life alignment set up correctly? I am aware that, like my tyres, my head suffers with baldness – but this is not so easily replaced! Seriously though – it is worth taking time to ensure our lives are aligned in the best direction.

We may be able to handle some things ourselves, like an oil check, but for some things we may need the help of others with greater resources or expertise... perhaps a life coach, a counsellor or a spiritual leader... perhaps a financial advisor a fitness instructor or a trusted friend.

Sadly, since writing this, my car is off the road and needs fixing before it can go to be tested! Perhaps we all need to check if we are due an MOT?

“Above all else, guard your heart, for everything you do flows from it.” (Proverbs 4:23)
